THE REASON WHY

The War Has Not Been Stopped

PRESIDENT-ELECT ARRIVES.

The Governor in Consultation
With Boyle and Others.

ANOTHER RIOT AT KNOXVILLE.

Cases, Island of Crete, March 2. The town of Candano has fallen into the hands of the insurgents. The Greeks first took the fortress of Varavos, which dominates the town, where there were 3,000 Muslims.

The Bey, having appealed to Tewfik pasha to get the Sultan's protection for besieged Muslims, he replied that the Sultan was powerless to insure it, and that they must look to the Powers. Thereupon the Bey went to the English consulate to ask for assistance.

CAUSE OF THE HITCH.

In Proposed Concerted Action of the Powers.

London, March 2.—The Daily Chronicle says there is little doubt that the serious hitch in the concert of the Powers is due, first, to the lack of wisdom on the part of the government, and secondly, to the wrath of Emperor William who, the "Chronicle" says, deeply resents the form of the policy of Great Britain toward Crete, especially the suggestion that Great Britain has taken the lead in the concert.

Continuing, the Chronicle says: "This indiscretion was enhanced by Mr. Cameron's most unfortunate speech, in which he said that the solution was mainly due to Lord Salisbury. It is understood that the Kaiser, in retaliation, made himself responsible for the official communications from St. Petersburg on Thursday last, in which Russia threatened the immediate coercion of Greece, failing her instant compliance."

"There is reason to believe that the attitude of the Kaiser has been influenced by the serious reports which have reached Berlin as to the progress of the Greek revolution."

PRESIDENT-ELECT ARRIVES.
Mr. McKinley and family at the White House in Washington.

Washington, March 2.—President-elect McKinley and party arrived at the Capital at 11 o'clock this morning and went directly to the White House where a suite of rooms had been reserved for them.

Mr. McKinley seems to be strong and well. A big reception has been arranged for this afternoon. People are arriving in large numbers, hundreds coming by every train.

The leaders are kept busy making states as their constituents, looking for office, are many of them in the city.

BOYLE WITH BRADLEY.

In Close Consultation This Afternoon On Senatorship.

Frankfort, March 2.—Governor Bradley has today been in close consultation with St. John Boyle, the subject undoubtedly being the senatorship. There are indications that either Boyle or Holt will be appointed. It is believed the matter will be settled today.

Frankfort, March 2: 2 p. m.—The Governor has intimated this afternoon that he will not make an appointment and that the consultations concern the date for which the extra session shall be called.

A conference was this morning held at which were present Messrs. Boyle, Judge Caldwell, A. J. Wood and Wilbur Smith.

Governor Linn Accepts.
Washington, March 2.—News from Boston is to the effect that Governor John D. Long will accept the naval portfolio in the McKinley cabinet.

Another Riot Imminent.
Knoxville, March 2.—Another street riot is threatened this afternoon, and there is great excitement.

DR. LETCHER DECLINES

To Resign the Superintendency of the Asylum.

A special to the Courier-Journal from Hopkinsville says Dr. Ben F. Letcher was surprised this afternoon when he was shown a dispatch to local paper, stating that Dr. Gardiner, of Madisonville, had been offered and accepted the superintendency of the Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane. He declined to discuss the matter. It is positively known that he has written a letter to Gov. Bradley refusing to resign.

BRUTAL TREATMENT.

Of American Scott.—Official Correspondence Sent to Senate.

Reveals the Truth of the Warship Episode.

Washington, March 2.—President Cleveland yesterday sent to the Senate an official correspondence relating to American citizens arrested in Cuba. The most important are the telegrams in the case of Charles Scott, which are as follows, being telegrams sent by Consul General Fitzhugh Lee to the state department. No replies from the state department are given in this case.

On February 20 Mr. Lee telegraphed as follows to the State Department: "Charles Scott, a citizen of the United States, arrested at Regla, No. charge given. Here without communication [sic] Havana 264 hours. Cannot stand another hour. How many war vessels Key West, or within reach, and will they be ordered here at once if necessary to ensure demand?"

On the 22d he said in a cable message: "Situation simple. Experience at Guantanamo made it my duty to demand before too late that another American who had been incarcerated 264 hours be released from said incarceration, and did so in courteous terms. If you support it and Scott is so released, the trouble will terminate. If you do not, I must depart. All others arrested with Scott have been put in communication. Why should the only American in the lot not be released?"

Later, on the same day, the 23d, Mr. Lee wired: "Demand complied with. Scott released from incarceration today on demand, after fourteen days' solitary confinement in cell five feet by eleven, damp, water on bottom of cell. Not allowed anything to sleep on or chair. Discharged from the War ship about 10 o'clock. Says went always twelve hours without water, once two days. He was an employee of an American gas company."

The most voluminous correspondence is that in the case of Sylvester Scott, correspondent of the New York World, who was arrested on Feb. 5. The documents furnished show that Mr. Lee promptly notified the State Department and that Mr. Lee responded immediately directing him to see that all of Scott's rights as an American citizen were protected. The letters and telegrams in this case run from the 5th to the 19th of February, when Mr. Lee informed the department that a competent lawyer had been secured to defend Scott. He had said previously that he did not not anticipate serious trouble from this case, but later changed his opinion. "It is supposed that Scott bore incriminating papers which gives the case a more serious aspect."

On the 11th of February Gen. Lee said that Scott was in a well ventilated cell, and that he had good food and a bed at Sancti Spiritus, to which he added: "Treaty rights have been respected. In hands of civil jurisdiction. I have sent a messenger to report case."

"Gen. Lee tried to have Scott removed from Sancti Spiritus to Havana, but failed."

The remaining case covered is that of F. J. Casanova, arrested Feb. 13, but on what charge does not appear.

"Gen. Lee's first information to the State Department was contained in a telegram of February 17. In this dispatch he conveys the information of the arrest, which he says took place at Nagua, and says the Consul's report will follow, adding: 'Proceedings a great outrage. Similar cases here and elsewhere on the island. Redress can be obtained here.'"

"On the 20th Gen. Lee stated in reply to a message from the State Department that Casanova resided at Nagua when arrested, and that he had registered at Havana as an American in 1873."

Finally only the near approach of the end of the session prevented the precipitation of another Cuban debate.

The Y. W. B. C. U. Y. W. B. C. U. will meet at the Cumberland Presbyterian church Wednesday, March 3, at 4 p. m., and we hope that all young ladies interested in this cause will make an effort to be present.

IN MID AIR.

Thrilling Rescue of Manager A. L. Joyner.

RECEIVED 1100 VOLTS.

And On Top of a Tall Pole, Suspended by His Coat Tail.

HIS INJURIES ARE NOT SERIOUS.

Manager A. L. Joyner, of the East Tennessee Telephone Company, had a miraculous escape from death about fifteen minutes before 3 o'clock this afternoon on a tall telephone pole at the northeast corner of Broadway and Fourth streets, in front of McPherson's drug store.

He ascended the pole to look after some telegraph wires, was overcome by lightning, Taylor Craig, remaining at the bottom to await the manager's descent.

Soon after the latter reached the net work of wires above, Craig heard an agonizing cry, and looked up. He saw that Mr. Joyner had hold of a live wire, and climbed hastily to reach him. As he was going up he could see the soles of Manager Joyner's shoes burning. They rested on the telephone cable, which is grounded and completed a circuit. When Craig got to him he at once seized his coat tail and pulled him loose. This evinced remarkable presence of mind, for had he touched him anywhere else he might have himself received the current.

There the two men were precariously suspended at the perilous height of forty or fifty feet, while a horrified crowd of belpais people excitedly assembled beneath the pole and vainly cried for help.

Supt. Davis, of the City Electric light plant, was nearby and also climbed the pole, rendering valuable assistance in extricating Mr. Joyner and assisting him to the ground.

He descended without aid, but when he touched ground if there had not been strong and willing hands there to receive him, he would have fallen in a dead faint. Dr. Reddick took charge of him, and while Manager Joyner insisted that he was all right, he could not walk, and was pale and frequently fainted. (Here given medical aid.)

Dr. Jeff Robertson made an examination of him. His hands and lower limbs were badly burned, and he was very weak, but soon recovered greatly.

He state to a Star reporter after wards that he had gotten hold of the Paducah Electric Company's "vibrator" and had his feet on the cable or a telephone wire.

"As soon as I touched it," he said, "I knew what it was, and never expected to get down alive. I knew nothing else until I got loose. I suppose I received about 1,100 volts."

This, in two minutes, would kill the average man, but Mr. Joyner probably did not get the current that long.

The heroic action of the two men who saved him deserves great commendation. They not only risked their own lives, but saved that of a fellow man.

Mr. Joyner was taken home in a carriage about 3 o'clock. The crowd at Fourth and Broadway did not entirely disperse for nearly an hour.

THE RIVER.

Rapid Rise of the Feculent Ohio.

The town Club Vainly Saves Its Fine Electric Traps.

The raging Ohio is on a rampage sure enough, and the turbulent water rose almost a foot last night. The stream is slowly crawling up the levee, and fourteen feet more would submerge most of the city, as it lacks just fourteen feet of being at the high water mark of 1884.

River men, however, do not apprehend much more water. While the rise is rapid here, the fall is equally as great above. The Wahash, one of the most dangerous tributaries, is heard from seldom, and the future stage depends largely on what she does.

The rain here is not general, hence at points above it will have little or no effect.

All landings above are suffering from the incipient flood. Many of the houses at the landing and there are entirely inundated, and at Galena there is fear of danger. It comes from a whirling rough cold in the head and gives sweet refreshing sleep. Children have it. Old people like it. Good druggists sell it.

All the hollows around Paducah are full of the last water, which is not an unusual thing at this time of the year, however.

"Dogtown" is a waste of water, and if the denizens of this delectable suburb desire to leave Paducah, there is now no excuse for them. Their boats are all afloat, and it took no little patching to render most of them "seaworthy." Some of the boats have been beached here for several years, the people claiming that they could not get them into the river. The water is higher this year than it has been for about three seasons.

"Riverside Park, the Gan Club's retreat, is now unusable. To scan the vista around in that locality reveals nothing but the top of the gun club's shed, and the bare roof of the trap houses. Some of the members very thoughtfully went down yesterday and removed all the fine electric traps and it is very unfortunate that they did, for had they neglected it, the traps would have been ruined today by the rising river.

The long, black sand bar will probably not rear its familiar peak for many weeks, and nothing but the tips of the tree tops is left of the towheads and were the solitary forms still inhabitants of Owen's Island, it would be a case of "ship or swim."

With steamboatmen it is always a case of extremes. In summer they are hampered with low water, and in this season they are incommoded by too much of it.

While the calamity bowlers derive great satisfaction from predictions of high water, river men are almost unanimous in the opinion that the Ohio will soon begin to recede. At any rate if the river does overflow like it did in 1884, the Democratic papers can't charge it to the McKinley administration.

CLINTON COLLEGE

It Experienced a Temporary "Bust" Up.

Rev. D. Pettie Resigns—Teachers All Walked Out Tuesday.

The college at Clinton temporarily closed last week, and thereby hangs a tale. Yesterday it resumed under entirely different management and new teachers. Rev. Dr. A. S. Pettie, the superintendent, having resigned, the college was organized by a new board of trustees, headed by Dr. J. C. Pettie, a son of the superintendent. It is said that without ascertaining the facts the trustees met and demanded the young man's expulsion, and Dr. Pettie refused to accede to their demand. They withheld funds from him, it is said, and being unable to pay teachers their salary, the latter all refused to teach last Tuesday.

Thursday, by dint of considerable hard work, enough teachers were found to teach, and Friday Dr. Pettie resigned, and was succeeded by Dr. Riley, with a new corps of teachers.

The college is well attended by South-western Kentucky young men, one or two being from Paducah.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET.

Thirty Paducah Losers in the United States Building and Loan.

Held a Meeting at the City Hall Yesterday Afternoon.

An unusual sort of meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the city court room at the city hall at 3 o'clock. It was of the unfortunate Paducah Stockholders of the United States Building and Loan Association that was under a few days ago at Louisville.

There were thirty of them in attendance, and all lost, many heavily, by the collapse.

A number had borrowed from the association and built houses, while some had deposited their money in it as a savings bank. Some of this will likely be lost, if not considerable of it.

The stockholders simply talked over the matter, and appointed Mr. C. C. Rice to secure copies of the papers of assignment, etc.

Another meeting will be held about the latter part of the week to take further action.

One young man who lost was a news agent on the I. C. who paid $206 into the association.

There is nothing so good for the lungs and cold as the children and babies as the Paducah Tar-Honey. It cures croup, whooping cough, cold in the head and gives sweet refreshing sleep. Children love it. Old people like it. Good druggists sell it.

KILLED BY A TREE.

Young Tom Waller Meets An Awful Fate.

HAD BEEN TO BENTON.

His Head Was Crushed Against Tree and Death Was Instantaneous.

LIVED THREE MILES FROM BENTON.

Tom Waller, a well known and highly respected young man residing near Benton, was instantly killed by his horse late yesterday afternoon while on route home from county court, which met yesterday.

Young Waller rode in to attend court and drank considerably during the day. When he started home he is said to have been considerably under the influence of liquor, and rode in a gallop. In attempting to pass a tree he must have thought his horse would pass on one side, but the animal shied around and went the other way.

The young man's head was brought into contact with the trunk of the tree, and he was knocked from his seat and killed. His body was soon picked up and carried home, and the funeral took place today.

The unfortunate young man was about 25 years of age, a son of Alex Waller, one of the wealthiest farmers of Marshall county.

He was unmarried, and an ex-emplary young man, except that he sometimes drank a little.

HUNG HIMSELF.

Rash Act of a Cairo Man in Jail.

Had Been Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Assaulting His Daughter.

Elijah Kirby, who was convicted of assaulting his daughter as the termination of an exhaustive trial, in circuit court last week, in which he was ably defended, hung himself in jail this morning about 2 o'clock, says yesterday's Cairo Argus.

He availed himself of the time when the other prisoners were asleep and could not catch his operations, then with a rope taken from his bunk hanged himself in the big cell until dead. He did this rather than return to the penitentiary and endure another indefinite term of imprisonment.

Kirby was a badly misjudged man and the victim of unfortunate circumstances, else he deserved all misfortune that has befallen him.

Sheriff Miller was up to Kirby yesterday, to visit his mother, and learned on the early M. & O. train this morning, to be introduced to the unfortunate happening in the county jail soon after. He intended to take Kirby to Chester this morning, and would have done so yesterday, if there had been a train to take them through. Kirby had been talking to the prisoners a little queerly for two or three days, and the sheriff was a little anxious in regard to him, and desirous to get him off his hands.

The prisoner hanged himself from the top of the cage. The rope he used was a quarter-inch curl. When the body was discovered hanging, an alarm was raised and a physician sent for. Upon his arrival he pronounced the man dead. His neck was not broken, but he died of strangulation. His feet rested on the floor of his cell. Dr. Stevenson examined him after death.

The most important are the telegrams in the case of Charles Scott, which are as follows, being telegrams sent by Consul General Fitzhugh Lee to the state department. No replies from the state department are given in this case.

On February 20 Mr. Lee telegraphed, as follows to the State Department: "Charles Scott, a citizen of the United States, arrested at Regla No. 46, without communication (all Havana 264 hours). Cannot stand another day's imprisonment. How many war vessels Key West, or within reach, and will they be ordered here at once if necessary to sustain demand?"

On the 22d he said in a cable message: "Situation simple. Experience at Guantanamo made it my duty to demand before too late that another American who had been incommunicado 264 hours be released from said incommunicado, and did so in courteous terms. If you support it and Scott is so released the trouble will terminate. If you do not, I must depart. All others arrested with Scott have been put in communication. Why should the only American in the lot not be? He has been incommunicado now thirty-three hours."

Later, on the same day, the 23d, Mr. Lee wired: "Demand complied with. Scott released from incommunicado today on demand, after fourteen days' solitary confinement in cell five feet by eleven, damp, water on bottom of cell. Not allowed anything to sleep on or change from the body removed in five days. Was charged with having Cuban postage stamps in the house. Scott says went always twelve hours without water, once two days. He was an employee of an American gas company."

The most voluminous correspondence is that in the case of Sylvester Sevel, correspondent of the New York World, who was arrested on Feb. 5. The documents furnished show that Mr. Lee promptly notified the State Department and that Mr. Olney responded immediately directing him to see that all of Sevel's rights as an American citizen were protected. The letters and documents in this case run from the 5th to the 19th of February, when Mr. Lee informed the department that a competent lawyer had been secured to defend Sevel. "Pretty rights have been respected. In hands of civil jurisdiction. I have sent a messenger to report case."

"Gen. Lee tried to have Sevel removed from Sancti Spiritus to Havana, but failed."

The remaining case covered is that of F. J. Casanova, arrested Feb. 13, but on what charge does not appear.
"Gen. Lee's first information to the State Department was contained in a telegram of February 17. In this dispatch he conveys the information of the arrest, which he says took place at Nagua, and says the Consul's report will follow, adding: 'Proceedings a great outrage. Similar cases here and elsewhere on the island. Redress can be obtained here.'"

On the 20th Gen. Lee stated in reply to a message from the State Department that Casanova resided at Nagua when arrested, and that he had registered at Havana as an American in 1872.

Evidently only the near approach of the end of the session prevented the precipitation of another Cuban debate.

The rain here is not general, hence at points above it will have little or no effect.

All landings above are suffering from the incipient flood. Many of them are entirely inundated, and at Golconda, there is fear of danger. Capt. Bauer's residence is about the lowest in that place, and he stated this morning that six or seven feet more would bring it over the floor.

All the hollows around Paducah are full of the back water, which is not an unusual thing at this time of the year, however.

"Dogtown" is a waste of water, and if the denizens of this delectable suburb desire to leave Paducah, there is now no excuse for them. Their boats are all afloat, and it took no little patching to render most of them "seaworthy." Some of the boats have been beached here for several years, the people claiming that they could not get their crafts into the river. The water is higher this year than it has been for about three seasons.

Riverside Park, the Ginn Club's retreat, is now inevitable. To scan the vista around in that locality reveals nothing but the top of the gun club's shed, and the bare roof of the trap houses. Some of the members very thoughtfully went down yesterday and removed all the fine electric traps, and it is very unfortunate that they did, for had they neglected it, the traps would have been ruined today by the rising river.

The long, bleak sand bar will probably not rear its familiar bank for many weeks, and nothing but the tips of the tree tops is left of the towhead, and were the solitary foxes still inhabitants of Owen's Island, it would be a case of "sink or swim."

With steamboatsmen it is always a case of extremes. In summer they are hampered with low water, and in this season they are incommoded by too much of it.

While the calamity bowlers derive great satisfaction from predictions of high water, river men are almost unanimous in the opinion that the Ohio will soon begin to recede. At any rate if the river does overflow like it did in 1884, the Democratic papers can't charge it to the McKinley administration.

CLINTON COLLEGE.

It Experienced a Temporary
"Bust" Up.

Rev. D. Petties Resigns—Teachers
All Walked Out Tuesday.

The college at Clinton temporarily closed down last week, and thereby hangs a tale. Yesterday it resumed, under entirely different management and new teachers. Rev. Dr. A. S. Pettie, the superintendent, having resigned Friday and returned to Mayfield.

As could have been learned, the trouble in the college originated over the unwillingness of a number of the trustees to accede to the demands of the young man's expulsion, and Dr. Pettie refused to accede to their demand. They withheld funds from him, it is said, and being unable to pay teachers their salary, the latter all refused to teach last Tuesday.

Thursday, by dint of considerable hard work, enough teachers were found to teach, and Friday Dr. Pettie resigned, and was succeeded by Dr. Riley, with a new corps of teachers.

The college is well attended by South-western Kentucky young men, one or two being from Paducah.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET.

Thirty Paducah Losers in the United States Building and Loan.

Held a Meeting at the City Hall
Yesterday Afternoon.

An unusual sort of meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the city court room at the city hall at 4 o'clock. It was of the unfortunate Paducah stockholders of the United States Building and Loan Association that went under a few days ago at Louisville.

There were thirty of them in attendance, and all lost, many heavily, by the collapse.
A number had borrowed from the association and built houses, while some had deposited their money in it as a savings bank. Some of this will likely be lost, if not considerable of it.

The stockholders simply talked over the matter, and appointed Mr. C. C. Rose to secure copies of the papers of assignment, etc.
Another meeting will be held about the latter part of the week to take further action.

One young man who lost was a new agent on the I. C. who paid $300 into the association.

There is nothing so good for the cough as Dr. Hall's Pigeon-Tree Honey. It cures croup, whooping cough, cold in the head and gives sweet refreshing sleep. Children love it. Old people like it. Good druggists sell it.

KILLED BY A TREE.

Young Tom Waller Meets An Awful Fate.

HAD BEEN TO BENTON.

His Head Was Crushed Against a Tree and Death Was Instantaneous.

LIVED THREE MILES FROM BENTON.

Tom Waller, a well known and highly respected young man residing near Benton, was instantly killed by his horse late yesterday afternoon while en route home from county court, which met yesterday.

Young Waller rode in to attend court and drank considerably during the day. When he started home he was under the influence of liquor, and rode in a gallop. In attempting to pass a tree he must have thought his horse would pass on one side, but the animal sheered around and went the other way.

The unfortunate young man was about 25 years of age, a son of Alex Waller, one of the wealthiest farmers of Marshall county.

He was unmarried, and an exemplary young man, except that he sometimes drank a little.

Had Been Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Assaulting
His Daughter.

Elijah Kirby, who was convicted of assaulting his daughter as the termination of an exhaustive trial in circuit court last week, in which he was able to defend, hung himself in jail this morning about 2 o'clock, says yesterday's Cairo Argus.

He availed himself of the time when the other prisoners were asleep and could not watch his operations, then with a rope taken from his bunk hanged himself in the big cell until dead. He did this rather than return to the penitentiary and endure another indefinite term of imprisonment.

Kirby was a badly misjudged man and the victim of unfortunate circumstances, else he deserved all misfortune that has befallen him.

Sheriff Miller was up to Elco yesterday, to visit his mother, and returned on the early M. & O. train this morning, to be introduced to the unpleasant happening in the county jail soon after. He intended to take Kirby to Chester this morning, and would have done so yesterday, if there had been a train to take them through. Kirby had been talking to the prisoners a little queerly for two or three days, and the sheriff was a little anxious in regard to him, and desirous to get him off his hands.

The prisoner hanged himself from the top of the cage. The rope he used was a quarter-inch cord. When the body was discovered hanging, an alarm was raised and a physician sent for. Upon his arrival he pronounced the man dead. His neck was not broken, but he died of strangulation. His feet rested on the floor of his cell. Dr. Stevenson examined him after death.

New Time Card.

On the new time card on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad effective February 28, the morning train will leave five minutes earlier, or at 7:10 a. m.; the afternoon train will go through to Jackson, Tenn., instead of stopping at Lexington. They will probably be taken to Newbern tomorrow.

Remains Still Held.
The remains of Matt Hale, who was murdered in Allen's livery stable yesterday by Tom Hodges, are still held at Riley's Coroner's office.
